

UNDERAGE STUDENT ADMISSION

Yakima Valley College does not desire to replace or duplicate the functions of the local public schools in regards to providing instruction to students under the age of eighteen. For applicants under the age of sixteen, academic as well as emotional maturity is of particular concern. However, the college does recognize there are certain circumstances when an underage applicant would benefit from college-level course work. To respond to the needs of those students, the college has established the following special admissions policy. Students are responsible for tuition, class fees, books and supplies.

1. Any applicant not qualifying for admission through regular admissions procedures or qualifying for an established program must request consideration of admittance under the special admissions procedure.
2. Before students can attend class the request for admittance must be reviewed and approved by the Admissions Committee.
3. If the student is accepted they will receive a welcome letter/email with instructions on how to proceed with the registration process.
4. A personal interview with the Admissions Committee may be requested at the discretion of the committee.
5. Students admitted under the special admissions procedure:
 - Will be admitted on a course by course basis
 - Will be allowed to register for class if space is available after the class has met at least once or the third day of the quarter, whichever is later.
 - Must have the Special Admissions Advisor approval signature before registering, adding or dropping a course.
6. Any student who has received probation, suspension or dismissal status on YVCC transcripts will not be admitted under special admissions.
7. Students are responsible for tuition, class fees, books and supplies.
